Join Dian Alyan, CEO of Givelight foundation, for lunch to discuss her journey from global brand management at P&G to founding the 5 year non-profit organization, which was recently featured in P&G success book "When Core Values Are Strategic."

Recipient of several humanitarian awards and a frequent speaker at Stanford University, Google, Apple and many others, Dian is coming to our SF campus to discuss how to balance sustainable business goals with social entrepreneurship.

Dian lost 40 of her relatives in the 2004 tsunami and she is determined to rebuild Aceh, Indonesia by saving as many of its orphans as possible and expand its vision to the World. When she is not busy building the Foundation, she is challenged by raising two young children of her own
